Summer School Classes Listed

The courses being offered in summer school have been released to the schools in the South Bend Community School Corporation. Summer school begins the week following the closing of regular school and continues for eight weeks.

There are several one period per day classes which last for eighty minutes and students receive one half unit for. The English courses that are offered are: Corrective Reading and Composition (Remedial, No Credit), Developmental Reading and Creative Writing (No Credit), Speech, and English Literature. Government, Sociology, and Economics may only be taken separately for makeup. Geography is being offered to students in the 10th, 11th, and 12th grades. Typing may be taken with credit or non-credit courses.

Most of the courses being offered are three period classes. The classes that may be taken for makeup only are: English 1, 2, 3; Introduction to Social Studies; High School Arithmetic; and Biology 1. Algebra 1 and U. S. History may be taken for both makeup and regular. There will also be an honors U.S. History class.

Other courses being offered include the following: American Government-Sociology; American Government-Economics; Problems of Contemporary Society; and World History in the social studies field. In mathematics, Algebra 1 is being offered. Biology (BSCS) 1 and 2 are being offered as well as Chemistry 1 and 2. The industrial arts classes being offered are Drafting 1, Machine Processes, and Power Mechanics. Foods 1 and Clothing 1 are also being offered. In business education, Notehand, Personal Typing, and Bookkeeping are being offered. Basic Art and Advanced Art are being offered also. The Music Department will offer Harmony and Music Appreciation. Health will be offered for students in the 10th grade or higher.

High school summer school students are expected to carry a full load. This means two subjects or one of the total year courses. Exceptions to this ruling will be kept to a minimum.

300 Students Attend Dance

Nearly 300 students attended the "Coke Dance" held by the Explorer on Friday, March 11. The Coca-Cola Company sponsored the dance, furnishing free Cokes and a hi-fi set which was to be given as a door prize. Joe Kelly of WSBT-TV, was at the dance to spin the records. Chaperones included Mr. Hoffman, Mr. Hajicek, Mrs. Landry, Mr. and Mrs. Harke, Mr. Hafner, Mrs. Nelson and Mr. Nelson.

The drawing for the door prizes was held about halfway through the dance. Alex Kovacs won the hi-fi set and Tina Klysz won the transistor radio given by one of the Explorer advertisers.

During the past week homeroom teachers have been taking their homerooms on tours of the building, including the gym, pool, and varsity dressing rooms. It is possible that the gym will be turned over to us for use by April 1st.

Driver's Ed Classes Held

On Tuesday, March 15, Mr. Szucs spoke to juniors and sophomores who wish to take Driver Education this summer. Students who have had Health will have completed the classroom part of the course. With the possibility of a few exceptions, driving only will be offered this summer.

LaSalle has been given a quota of 144 places this summer. Students will be selected in the order of class and then by chronological age. In other words, juniors will have first preference and then sophomores will have an opportunity to participate. Freshmen will not be included in the program because they have not yet had Health.

It is probable that LaSalle will be used as a center for the course this summer. Thirty cars will be available throughout the corporation. There will be a $5.00 fee for the course. There will be three sessions each day and four two-week sessions. The dates for these sessions are as follows:

Session I	June 13-June 24
Session II	June 27-July 8
Session III	July 11-July 22
Session IV	July 25-August 5

The times are:

Session I	- 7:00-9:30 a.m. daily
Session II	- 9:30-12:00 daily
Session III	- 1:00-3:30 p.m. daily

FINANCE CONFERENCE HELD AT NOTRE DAME

On Tuesday, March 1, the Scholarship Association of Indiana Colleges and Universities conducted a financial aid conference at the University of Notre Dame. Its purpose was to provide students with information on different forms of financial aid available to them for continuing education after graduation from high school.

Mr. Barack, Mr. Kosana, Mrs. Landry, and Mr. Nelson attended the conference which included participants from schools all over north central Indiana. Representatives from several Indiana colleges came with reports on the financial aid situations at their respective schools. Philosophy of financial aid was discussed first and then the various types of available aid were presented and discussed.

The major address was to be given by Congressman John Brademas, of the third district; however, he was unable to be at the conference because of an important vote in Washington on the National Defense Act. Mr. Brademas gave his address on the Philosophy of the Higher Education Act of 1965 by tele-conference (e.g. over the telephone). There are many forms of financial aid available to students under the new programs that have been established. Some of these forms of financial aid are discussed in an article on Page 2. Counselors can answer most questions that students have about financial aid.

The Annual Science Fair is today and tomorrow at Washington High School and is open to the public. Admission to the Science Fair is free. Students from all over the city are participating in this annual event.

STUDENT LEADERS ELECTED

Orchestra Performs At Three Grade Schools

The LaSalle High School Orchestra is becoming one of the best in our city at such an early date. This was shown by the many honors presented to LaSalle by---our orchestra members entering the Ensemble Contest, held in late January. The entire group entered as one, playing some pieces by the well-known composer, George F. Handel.

On Monday, March 14, the orchestra spent a day performing at Muesel, Marquette, and Coquillard schools. This will prove invaluable to the students at these schools since it will show them what an interesting future is in store for them if they ever were to add talents they may possess as a member of the LaSalle High School Orchestra. The program for the music tour concert, March 14, was as follows:

Five Pieces--Handel
Andante Cantabile--Tschaikevsky
Cresta Blanca Waltz--Morton Gould
Love Is The Same--Zeal Fisher
Siboney--Ernesto Lecuona

Band Presents First Concert

Last week, the LaSalle band performed its first concert at Marquette School. Mr. A. J. Singleton, the director, led the LaSalle band as well as the Marquette bands. The Marquette "B" band, the beginners, performed first when it performed "How the Band Began."

Following the "B" band, the Marquette "A" band performed. The "A" band played Glow Worm, Entrance of the Mikado, Greensleeves, and the Step Along March. The "B" and "A" bands then combined to play When the Saints Go Marching In.

The LaSalle band opened its portion of the program with several selections from The Sound of Music. Then the Scythian Overture by Richard Walker was played. The featured soloist, Lester Thornburg, played London-derry Air by Art Dedrick on his trumpet. The largest audience response came when the band played Henry Mancini's The Pink Panther. The band then played a novelty number called Train in the Night and closed the concert with Semper Fidelis.

This same program will be given for the student body at Brown School in the near future. Another major project for our orchestra is to spend some time reading through various pieces and seeing their musical beauty and variation. These pieces will range from a "classical", entranced with beauty of long ago--to some of the modern "pop" sounds, we hear today.

Through the many efforts of the conductor of our orchestra, Mr. Zeal Fisher, we can look forward to wonderful programs for the coming year. The group will soon become larger and they hope to include wind instruments in the not too distant future.

Representing our school in the play "Around the World in Eighty Days" will be Jim Szabo, who will play the string bass in the musical group to perform at that event.

A very important asset to our school and something we can all be proud of--The LaSalle High School Orchestra.

SOVINSKI CHOSEN TO BE PRESIDENT

Wednesday, March 9 was the election day for all junior students participating in the Student Council Elections. Each candidate was allowed to campaign in the elections. Each candidate was allowed posters and badges. There was quite a variety. Each candidate gave a brief speech over the P.A. system.

In this election freshmen, sophomores and juniors were allowed to vote. The votes from the freshman and sophomore classes could have made the very difference on what the results were.

Mr. Miller took complete charge of the Student Council Elections.

The results were announced over the P.A. at the beginning of 3rd hour.

The new President to represent the LaSalle Student Council is Paul Sovinski; vice-president--David Johnson; secretary--Cynthia Paxson and treasurer--Mike Scholine.

The Student Council will not be able to do anything without the help of the entire student body. It is hoped that the students will back them in every way possible. Before long they will be well underway on establishing a Student Council here at LaSalle.

In the coming week each homeroom teacher will select one regular representative and one alternate, from his or her homeroom, who is qualified to serve on the Student Council board.

Let's support EXPLORER advertisers.

Next EXPLORER, April 1st.

A representative from Adrian College in Michigan was here this week. He spoke to interested juniors about the courses of study Adrian offers and other points about Adrian.

Students Named Semi-Finalists

Marcia Katz and Candy Oehler, third year French students at LaSalle, have been chosen as semi-finalists in the Indiana University Honors Program in Foreign Languages. They were chosen on the basis of their written tests and applications. The candidates were informed by mail of their successes on February 24, and were interviewed on March 3 by the selection committee in order that the final cut may be made. An announcement of the finalists will be made April 1. This selection will entitle the candidates to eight weeks in France next summer. Up to thirty French students can be chosen for this program each year.

While in France, class sessions will be conducted mornings and afternoons, approximately five hours each day. Each student will be placed in a French home while in France. An additional Indiana University staff member will be present throughout the summer, available to the Honors Students for guidance and problem discussion.

The student must be able to fit himself into the new surroundings while there. He must be able to adjust to the family mode of living and obey their wishes. While in France, the student is allowed to speak only French.

CONGRATULATIONS!

This is the third and last of a series of sermons which the "Explorer" is publishing. From the previous addresses in the series, you can probably guess what these few words are about. If you can't guess, the news will be broken gently. These brief remarks concern the student council and its newly elected slate of officers. Unlike the previous sermons, these remarks are addressed to a small group of people.

The "Explorer" would like to congratulate the officers and wish them good luck. We know that they will need the good luck because running a student council is an arduous task. The officers have been elected to a great responsibility. They will need the cooperation of the entire student body.

A student council is the most important organization in the school. It can generate school spirit, sponsor school activities, and represent the school in the community. A student council brings the students closer to the faculty. It can, through its officers, build good traditions. A student council contributes to the school's reputation. Perhaps you can understand now why choosing qualified leaders for officers is so important. The officers of the LaSalle Student Council can make or break the council. The Student Council can build the school's reputation, or it can tear it down.

The first officers of LaSalle's student council can start the tradition of having a strong student council. They can help LaSalle grow.

SELF PORTRAIT

By and large, newspaper writers are an uncomplaining group. But every once in a while they begin to feel depressed and express some self-pity. That is the way the "Explorer's" cartoonist felt when he drew the sketch at the right.

It isn't hard to see why he feels that way either. Working on the paper can easily deflate one's ego. Take the example of a page editor who works on his page makeup for two and one-half hours to get the page artistically balanced only to be told that it doesn't matter about his page, the only articles that interest the kids are the sports articles and "Frenchy". Such an experience could prove disconcerting to normal students. (We are assuming that once a student begins to work on a newspaper he forfeits his normality.)

It is a little confusing to be criticized all the time and not be able to reply.

WOULD YOU BELIEVE?

Would you believe that winter is over? How about coming out of hibernation? Shall we try dropping out of the doldrums that have plagued us for the winter? Let's face it, LaSalle has been dead for a long time. It seems that LaSalle's student body has been hibernating since last November.

For an example, consider the recent elections. They certainly stirred up a lot of enthusiasm. Students just slept through the speeches, and then when it was time to vote they asked, "Who is that? I never heard of him." Or take the example of the great turnout at the last school dance. There were only two hundred kids out of a possible eleven hundred at the dance. Some LaSalle-ites don't like to dance, others are too sophisticated to go to a dance that doesn't have a name band playing, and the rest don't care. There is no real interest in the school. The little interest that there is based on ulterior motives. Some students pretend to like LaSalle so that they can brown their ways into the faculty's hearts. These students don't help the school at all.

It is even more baffling that the support of our athletic contests has been so low. The only time that much spirit was evident was during the sectional. The spirit was wonderful then, but it didn't last very long. We wonder whether some of the sectional enthusiasm wasn't inbred "Hoosier Hysteria". When spirit appears so sporadically, it certainly isn't real. Why at some basketball games there were more faculty members than students. Isn't it odd that LaSalle students don't even take the easy way out of the school spirit rap by buying tickets to the ball games. What will the students do when they have to shoulder the responsibilities of well-rounded school spirit?

What is wrong here? LaSalle-ites seem to have no opinions on anything. They don't give a darn about the war in Viet Nam. They don't care about a National Honor Society. They don't care if the auditorium is completed by June or not. The student body's response to everything is "uhhhh" -----

Gomer Pyle style. Even Batman couldn't save this motley crew. The attitude is one of indifference. Students say, "What do I care if I'm learning anything or not? I'll work it so that I get a "B"." Cheat your way through school and remain indifferent to the school's activities. That is the universal creed, and in most cases it works.

What causes this attitude? Could it be that students feel that they are being ignored? Maybe the problem is that the students think they are too sophisticated for pep assemblies in the gym, for record-player dances, or for caring. Perhaps kids don't realize that LaSalle has to begin someplace and beginning modestly and working up to the grand finale seems to be the best idea. Could it be that the students at LaSalle aren't mature enough to realize that they can do something about the problems here by being interested?

The over-simplified answers to these questions is for the students of LaSalle to start caring. Then they can try showing that they care. Become interested. We dare you!

What and How of Financial Aid

"The university is yours, make yourself at home." These were the cheerful words that greeted high school reporters at a Notre Dame conference on financial aid to students last Tuesday. Ann Shelley and Marcia Katz were LaSalle's student reporters.

One of the first speakers was Dr. Jean Harvey. She stated that grants in aid were available to students with desirable talents or those not academically suited for scholarships but need the money. Financial aid is determined on a scale of the ability and need of the applicant.

A high school student seeking aid is thought of as a member of a family where the parents are his chief source of money. Most students want to be independent of their parents, but not of financial aid. This doesn't penalize the thrifty person who has a modest income.

There are more than 57 different testing scholarships which are open to students. The more familiar test is the SAT. Eighteen out of 33 Indiana colleges use the CSS (centralized services for scholarships) tests for scholarships.

Practical Training Given

There can be more to your education than reading, 'riting, and 'rithmetic. We shouldn't forget the tremendous job of training that is being done in the Home Economics Department. The staff includes three well qualified teachers-- Miss Lucile Dienhart, Mrs. Lucile Wagoner, and Miss Ronnie Henahan. Miss Lucile Dienhart and student teacher Miss Henahan instruct the food classes.

Miss Dienhart taught at Central for many years and headed the Home Economics Department. She has a major in Home Economics and English. Miss Dienhart enthusiastically commented "We're progressing very well for a new school, the students show good leadership, we've a fine teaching staff and organization has been carried on extremely well." She wanted to mention "the beautiful setup of her Home Economics class with complete unit kitchens."

Student teacher Miss Ronnie Henahan teaches two morning classes of Miss Dienhart's four food classes. She is now studying at St. Mary's College on a Home Economics scholarship and she is editor of St. Mary's Chime Quarterly. Miss Henahan majored in Home Economics and English Writing and she has future plans to teach in Detroit.

The Foods I classes have worked on baking units---quick breads and yeast breads and a variation of food cookery. Foods II class is studying nutrition. It might be interesting to note that sixteen boys are taking the foods course, and there are six complete kitchen units and one demonstration unit.

Mrs. Lucile Wagoner instructs four clothing classes. She joined the LaSalle teaching staff this second semester and formerly taught at Oliver School. She has a Bachelors degree from Ball State and majored in math and Home Economics, also she obtained a Masters degree from I.U.

The Clothing I classes have finished sewing skirts and are now making dresses. The Clothing II class is making a variety of clothing. Her clothing classes are concerned with basic and advanced sewing processes, as well as selection and care of clothing.

Miss Dienhart outlined the common factors of all the units in Home Economics. "The students learn to plan, share, and work together, they learn to make choices, they learn the value of money, management of time, and need for rest and relaxation. The students recognize individual differences and the varieties of family patterns. They learn to accept responsibility and acquire a better understanding of themselves."

There are many careers open to a student interested in Home Economics. We can live without fast cars, We can live without books, But what would we do without seamstresses and cooks???

HIGH SCHOOL

FASHION BOARD

Mrs. Keb, Robertson's fashion coordinator, was at LaSalle last Monday to choose one junior girl to represent LaSalle on the High School Fashion Board at Robertson's.

Seventeen schools from the St. Joe County area will be represented on the board with each representative receiving free modeling lessons. The girls will take part in fashion shows and will be paid. Members of the board will also publish a newspaper.

FRENCHY

Dear Diary,

Now that elections and grading period are over, I am as carefree as a daffodil. 'Suppose maybe I could have SPRING FEVER? Fever is right--but not the spring type considering my "DAFFYNITIONS" of:

Ice cream--When I look at you, ICE CREAM.

Doughnuts--I DOUGHNUTS listening to you.

Soda--If you do, SODA I.

Lettuce--Come on, LETTUCE leave.

Sheath--SHEATH a swell dancer.

The EXPLORER SOCK HOP memories linger. It was great fun--all those cokes and door prizes. Lucky winners.

Just between you and me and the fence post, Diary, I don't see how KATIE MCLEAN, ANN SHELLY, and TONY MENHART get anything done in CHEMISTRY except talk of course!

Instead of a WHOOSIT this week here's a few descriptions of my classmates:

WHY WORRY---DAVID GRAMZA
HOOSIER SCHOOL MASTER--BOB KLUTE

LADY BE GOOD--MARY DREJHER
GIRL SHY---GARY BEARD
EASY GOIN' MAN--DAVID JOHN-SON

Enough of my chatter for this time, Diary, au revoir,

Devils Finish First Tourney

Hinkle Fieldhouse will serve as the stage for the four finalists in this Indiana High School basketball tournament.

Michigan City, never before among the finalists, is matched against East Chicago Washington in the opening game of Saturday's finals. The game will be played at 12:30 p.m.

The second game will match Indianapolis Tech. and Cloverdale. The winners of the two games return at 8:15 Saturday night to decide which team will succeed Indianapolis Washington as Indiana's basketball champion.

Michigan City earned its way to the final four by beating Anderson High School, 90-81. Anderson had been rated number one by an Associated Press poll at the end of the regular season. Michigan City takes an 18 game winning streak and a 24 and 3 record to the state capital.

The Red Devils have a balanced attack featuring a pair of nifty guards, O'Neil Simmons and Larry Gipson. They have big men in Terry Morse, Jim Caldwell, and Rob McFarland; Stan Farmer and Dennis Kruger back up the front three. All are capable of scoring and have demonstrated this fact repeatedly. If the Devils have a weakness, it is the guard spot. If City should lose either one of its fine playmakers, they would be in trouble.

East Chicago Washington had a more difficult time in eliminating the Lebanon Tigers and their star Rick Mount. Leg cramps slowed the Tiger star as Lebanon lost 59-58 at Lafayette. Although neighbors and frequently opponents, the East Chicago Senators didn't cross the path of the Devils this season. The Senators feature John Cousins as their leading scorer with Charles Matthews as Cousins' principal supporter. This talented club ought to give Michigan City its roughest battle because the Senators have an advantage in height.

In the Spotlight of the second game, Cloverdale takes on Indianapolis Tech., Indiana's largest high school. Cloverdale's leading scorers are Roy Sandy and Rod Hervey who have led the school of two hundred and twenty-five pupils to a 27 and 1 mark. Tech uses an effective pressing defense that forced Greensburg into twenty errors. Warren Marsden and Mike Price lead the Tech offense.

No other team in the finals has met the caliber of competition that Michigan City has faced. Watch for the Red Devils to capture their first state basketball title.

LHS CONGRATULATED ON SCHOOL SPIRIT

Dear Friends,
I would like to say on behalf of the Washington High School student body that we were surprised at the wonderful school spirit of the LaSalle High School student body.

You cheered your team on to the end as you did during the first quarter. We also enjoyed seeing that very few if any of you left before the final buzzer.

Our Hi-Y's sign on the east end of the gym was taken to heart, which of course made the game much more enjoyable for everybody in the gym.

We have nothing but praises for your cheerleaders; they were constantly setting a wonderful example for the students. When they came over to lead us in a "two-bit" contest, I wished that we could see a little more of them.

So in closing, we would like to say once again that your school spirit was inspiring to everybody attending the game.

Sincerely yours,

FACULTY FOULLIES MEET

Tonight, in the Coquillard Elementary School gym, the Faculty Foullies will meet the Booster Boppers in a basketball game. The game will begin promptly at seven o'clock p.m. and will be between the wonderful student basketball players and the clumsy faculty members (maybe we sound a little prejudiced?). The students, the Booster Boppers, will be coached by junior Paul Sovinski, and the faculty will be coached by sophomore Tom DeBaets. Officials will be Albert Frazier and Lyle Wamsley. Admission to the game will be twenty-five cents and will go for the support of all school activities.

BOPPER FIVE TONIGHT

and Rick Swartz. The Faculty Foullies include: Mr. Hoffman, Mr. Hughes, Mr. Kindt, Mr. Klaybor, Mr. Miller, Mr. Robinson, Mr. Rzesewski, Mr. Teegarden, Mr. Thompson, and Mr. Wegenke. We wish both teams Good Luck, especially the Faculty Foullies---they'll need it! It is hoped that there will be a good turnout for this event which needs support to be a success.

TRIBUNE HONORS LION

David Waszak was chosen as the South Bend Tribune's Honor Carrier for the week of March 6. David has been saving some of the money he has accumulated over the past three years from delivery to his 95 customers for a career in law. Even though he has saved much of his money for college, he has managed to buy a tape recorder and clothing.

David has learned many things from his experiences on his route. How to get along with people, the value of money, and responsibility are only a few of these. Although he is just a sophomore, David has earned a Star rank in the Explorer Scouts, 12 merit badges, and the Ad Altare Dei Award.

Among his favorite pastimes David enjoys listening to music, collecting stamps, and weight lifting.
